Sir

I am directed to state that for the present

passports for British

Subjects to proceed to Germany will be refused except in cases where there are really Serious reasons whether of a personale or business nature for the Journey.

2. At the present time, it is difficult to say how far British Subjects travelling in Germany will be free from molestation and the Govt. of India consider it advisable, therefore, to relax the restrictions gradually.

3. As regards Indians, the Govt. of India are of the opinion that they should be discouraged from going to Germany at present — and they have decided, therefore, that passports for that Country will only be issued to Indians of good standing and unimpeachable character who can show urgent and genuine business reasons for the proposed journey
